Leading London Financial Paper Sees Solution of Morocco Muddle.

LOOKS TO AMERICA

SAYS IT IS IN POWER OF ROOSEVELT ALONE TO BRING ABOUT THE DESIRED PEACE.

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The Statist, one of the leading financial weeklies of Great Britain, deals this week with the Algeciras conference in a long leader. The article predicts a failure to reach a conclusion satisfactory to France and consequently continued easiness in the commercial world, while at the same time the writer believes that war will not result. The point of the Statist's conclusion is that President Roosevelt alone can save the situation, "just as he alone was able to bring about peace between Russia and Japan."

The Statist, after dealing with the crux of the situation namely, the policing of Morocco, upholds France's right to demand that she should be given power to maintain order and to maintain a police force. The paper does not believe from present indications that Germany will yield the point, that country preferring to humiliate France with the result of tying up for an indefinite period the immense sums of money now held inactive in France. "The small powers," says the article, "are afraid to meddle between Germany and France and England cannot do anything that would seem contrary either to the spirit of the letter of the Anglo-French agreement.

"Russia has too much to do at home, and Austro-Hungary is too much distracted. There remains then only the United States. If the United States is willing to undertake the policing of Morocco everybody will hail with joy her readiness to assume an unpleasant responsibility for the sake of preserving the peace of the world. We trust that for the sake of maintaining this peace the United States will in the case, willingly depart from its settled policy."

SULTAN'S VIEWS ON CONTRABAND

ALGECIRAS, Feb. 9.—A plan for the reorganization of the customs of Morocco will be submitted to the conference tomorrow.

The Moroccan delegates have received the reply of the sultan regarding the proposed regulation or suppression of trade in contraband and arms. The sultan approves of the regulations except wherein they provide for the destruction of confiscated military weapons. He demands that serviceable armament shall be used for the equipment of Moroccan troops and that those useless for military purposes be sold abroad, the proceeds going to the Moroccan treasury. The reply will be communicated to the conference tomorrow.

UNITED STATES TREASURER TREAT IS IN CALIFORNIA

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—Charles H. Treat, treasurer of the United States, arrived here today and visited the subtreasury. He said that his trip across the continent was made solely for pleasure.

WEIGHT IS TAKEN IN CASE OF THE PACKERS

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—The reading of the report of Commissioner Garfield was finished in the packers' case just before adjournment today. A recess was taken until Tuesday, when the first witness to be placed upon the stand will probably be Edward Cudahy of Omaha.

PEOPLE TALK OF LYNCHING

GRUESOME PLOT TO DEFRAUD INSURANCE COMPANIES DISCOVERED AT VICTOR.

TWO MEN BLOW UP A CORPSE WITH DYNAMITE AND ONE IS SUPPOSED TO BE DEAD.

Special to The Gazette.

VICTOR, Colo., Feb. 9.—Jack Cowley and J. J. McEachein, two miners who have been working at least upon the Three Jacks tunnel on Grouse mountain until January 22, were arrested by City Marshal H. L. Naylor tonight and to avoid being lynched were removed to the county jail at Cripple Creek where they are held under a heavy guard.

During the latter part of last December McEachein was granted $2,000 insurance upon his life in the Northwestern Life, $2,000 in the Woodmen of the World and $2,000 in the A. O. U. W. On January 22 there was a heavy explosion in the Three Jacks tunnel and when Cowley entered it the pieces of flesh found scattered through the entire 40-foot tunnel were believed to be the remains of McEachein. The coroner was notified and an inquest was held finding that McEachein had met death by an accidental explosion. The Northwestern Life at once paid the death loss of $3,000, but the fraternal societies were more inquisitive, and wanted to know why and how the accident happened. Their investigation brought to light the fact that the remains were those of Robert Speed, a miner who was killed on the Portland on January 20 and who had been buried on the day preceding the explosion in the Three Jacks tunnel.

Marshal Naylor this evening arrested Cowley for complicity in the affair and after a brief sweating secured information that led to the arrest of McEachein at the home of his brother-in-law, Frank Laughn, on North Fifth street, where he has been hiding ever since he was supposed to have been blown up on January 22.

When the officers went to the Laughn residence, on North Fifth street, to arrest McEachein, they found the place barricaded, and it was necessary to use revolvers before the man finally surrendered. He was slightly wounded during the pistol fight.

Immediately after the funeral of Robert Speed the ghouls went to Sunnyside cemetery, exhumed the remains of Speed and carried them to the Three Jacks tunnel. The remainder of the scheme was easily worked. When the remains supposed to be those of McEachein were buried the funeral services were conducted in the Catholic church, and Mrs. McEachein was so hysterical that she could not attend the services.

When the facts became known here tonight the people became so aroused that threats of summary vengeance were heard upon all sides, and to prevent a lynching the prisoners were hurried to Cripple Creek and placed under heavy guard in the county jail.

CUDAHYS TESTIFY AGAINST PAT CROWE

OMAHA, Feb. 9.—The principal witnesses at the Pat Crowe trial today were Edward H. Cudahy, the packer, whom Crowe is charged with robbing, and his son, who was the victim of the kidnaping. Young Cudahy was cross-examined briefly. Mr. Cudahy, Sr., told of the search for his son, the reception of a letter demanding ransom and placing of $25,000 in gold at a place designated by the kidnapers. Three or four witnesses were examined, their testimony elaborating details in the story told by Mr. Cudahy.

NO MORE PASSES

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 9.—All the judges in Minnesota henceforth will scorn railroad passes. A movement started recently by the district bench of Hennepin county has resulted in all the judges in the state sending back their annual passes.

HARRIMAN GETS MEXICAN RIGHTS

CONCESSION GRANTED BY GOVERNMENT FOR RAILROAD LINE IN WESTERN COAST STATES OF REPUBLIC.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 9.—The Express today says:

Epes Randolph, acting as the personal agent of E. H. Harriman of the Southern Pacific, has quietly secured concessions from the Mexican government to construct a line in the western coast states of Mexico. The movement was carried on secretly and by the provisions of the contract entered into practically all competition has been shut out in western Mexico.

Nearly 100 miles of the new railroad line has been graded by the Southern Pacific in the construction of about 700 miles of road through the richest portions of the states of Sonora, Sinaloa and Jalisco and the territory of Tepic to connect with the Cananea, Rio Yaqui & Pacific in the north and the Mexican Central in the south.

The Southern Pacific is to receive a bonus not to exceed $15,000,000 at a rate of $12,000 a kilometer, or about $19,200 a mile. The sum of $240,000 is paid for the concession and the papers are signed by J. A. Naugle, representing the Southern Pacific and Leandro Fernandez, secretary of state in the department of communications and public works of the Mexican government.

TWENTY VICTIMS OF MINE HORROR

ONLY ELEVEN OUT OF THIRTY-ONE MEN IN FARRELL COLLIERY ARE TAKEN OUT ALIVE.

HINTON, W. Va., Feb. 9.—It is now practically settled that there were 31 men in the Farrel mine near Oak Hill, Fayette county, when the explosion occurred yesterday. Eleven were recovered alive, six bodies were recovered. Some of those rescued are badly injured and two will likely die. The dead bodies so far taken out are: George Morris, Ike Spears, Hans Covia, Joseph Hunter, Joe Lumley. One unidentified. All white.

Robert Gill, who was rescued alive, has both legs broken and Daniel Bell is badly crushed. The men rescued alive were not in that part of the mine where the explosion occurred, which accounts for their rescue.

It is thought the remaining 14 bodies can be gotten out tonight.

DIRT WILL FLY ON NEW SOUTHERN PACIFIC LINES.

DURANGO, Colo., Feb. 9.—Work on the new branch of the Southern Pacific line to extend from the main line of the Southern Pacific in New Mexico to Durango will commence at once. The company's offices in Durango will be moved to Gallup, N. M., and work will be pushed both north and south from that point. Agents of the company are at present in Durango buying all available horses and equipment to commence grading south of this city.

DENVER BOYS AMONG NAVAL GRADUATES

ANNAPOLIS, Feb. 9.—The official figures of the standing of the graduates during the whole course were issued today. Allen J. Chantry, Jr., of Malvern, Iowa, leads the class with a multiple of 517.25. Among the first seven graduates with "star rank" having received 85 per cent as an aggregate in all subjects, was William C. Barker, Jr., Salt Lake. An even hundred will receive their diplomas from Secretary Bonaparte on Monday.

Among the other graduates are: Thomas Withers, Jr., Denver; Carroll S. Graves, Spokane, Wash.; Fred M. Perkins, Salem, Ore.; Robert W. Spofford, Kansas; Randolph P. Scudder, North Yakima, Wash.; James Polling, Carson City, Nevada; Philip H. Field, Denver; Robert L. Harter, Winfield, Kan.; Sherwood E. A. Taffinder, San Francisco; Raleigh E. Hughes, Portland, Ore. No standing is assigned to Midshipman Victor N. Metcalf of Oakland, Cal., as he has been ill and has not completed his examinations.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION OF A PROMINENT STOCKMAN

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Feb. 9.—Tom O'Neil, the Chalk Bluffs ranchman, was shot by an unknown assassin at his ranch, 12 miles south of Cheyenne, yesterday, but will recover. The bullet passed through the fleshy part of the right leg about five inches above the knee.

The shot is believed to have been fired by some one who was hired to assassinate O'Neil.

PIONEER EDUCATOR OF NEW MEXICO DEAD.

SANTA FE, N. M., Feb. 9.—Peter Schneider, aged 75 years, a pioneer educator of the southwest, died this afternoon. He was a member of the territorial board of education and was president of St. Michael's college of the Christian brothers for several decades, being known as Brother Botulph. He was a native of Alsace-Loraine.

CRUISER PENNSYLVANIA AT ST. VINCENT ISLAND

ST. VINCENT, Island of St. Vincent, Feb. 9.—The United States armored cruiser Pennsylvania arrived here yesterday and will remain eight days. The ship was accorded a hearty reception. The men have been given general liberty.

HOSTILE CHINESE

Presbyterian and Catholic Missions Destroyed by Mob of Boxers.

AMERICANS ESCAPE

PEKING, Feb. 9.—A dispatch from Amoy today confirms the report of the destruction of the Presbyterian and Roman Catholic missions at Changpu, 70 miles from Amoy, by a mob described as having been composed of Boxers. The damage amounts to $50,000. The American missions were not injured. Details are lacking.

The sentiment in the neighborhood of Changpu is hostile to foreigners and it is considered strange that the American missions were not molested.

EIGHT-HOUR LAW ARGUED

SENATE VOTES TO ABROGATE IT IN ISTHMIAN CANAL WORK.

SENATOR PATTERSON'S MOTION TO STRIKE OUT EIGHT-HOUR PROVISION IN DEFICIENCY BILL IS DEFEATED.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Almost the entire session of the senate today was devoted to the consideration of the urgent deficiency bill which was passed practically as it was reported from the committee on appropriations. The only discussion in connection with the bill was over an amendment suggested by Mr. Patterson to strike out the provision relieving all alien workmen on the canal from the operations of the eight-hour law. Mr. Patterson contended that it was regular men to labor more than eight hours a day in the tropics was inhuman and argued that the requirement would do injustice to American labor. Several senators on both sides of the chamber controverted the position.

The amendment was voted down without resorting to a roll call.

Work in the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The house today ground out its usual semi-monthly grist of private pensions, passing in 72 minutes 429 bills for the benefit of veterans who are barred for one reason or another from coming in under the general statute. Seventy-five per cent of the beneficiaries are either blind or bedridden. This order, with a number of minor bills and the passage of two amendments to the Philippine act of 1905 constituted the transactions of the day. The tariff amendments place American cotton goods on an equality, so far as the cost of production is concerned, with European goods. Low grades of shoes were admitted at a lower tariff.

The house adjourned until Monday.

NEGRO SWEET SINGER DEAD

PAUL LAURENCE DUNBAR, FAMOUS POET, SUCCUMBS TO TUBERCULOSIS AFTER ILLNESS OF THREE YEARS.

DAYTON, Feb. 9.—Paul Laurence Dunbar, the negro poet, died at his home here this afternoon of consumption. For three years he has been seriously ill and for a year critically ill, but he kept at his work intermittently and wrote his last poem for his Christmas born, "Howdy, Honey, Howdy," just before Christmas. Mr. Dunbar was born in Dayton, June 27, 1872, and was first a newsboy and then an elevator boy, and in his ups and downs for a living practiced writing. His first poem was written when he was seven years old. His first work to attract attention to him was a class poem written for the Steel High school in 1891. His first of a total of 21 books was "Oak and Ivy."

His poem best known was "When Malindy Sings," which was written to his mother, whose name was Malinda.

Mr. Dunbar is survived by his mother, his wife and two half brothers, who reside in Chicago. He will be buried in Woodland cemetery, this city, the first of next week, many persons of note being expected to attend.

M'AVOY IS AT HEAD OF TAMMANY HALL

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Thomas F. McAvoy, who was the first deputy commissioner of police during Mayor McClellan's first administration, was today elected chairman of the executive committee of Tammany Hall. This places Mr. McAvoy at the head of the Democratic organization. He succeeds [illegible]

HUNDREDS WERE MADE HOMELESS

FIRE IN LITTLETON, WEST VIRGINIA, DESTROYS BUSINESS PORTION OF TOWN AND MANY RESIDENCES.

NEW MARTINSVILLE, W. Va., Feb. 9.—Fire broke out in Littleton, a new town, here today and before it could be extinguished nearly every business house was destroyed, about 800 of the 1500 inhabitants were without homes and a financial loss of more than $100,000 was sustained.

The fire broke out about noon in the attic of the William Crow grocery, in the center of the town. Inside of 20 minutes the entire business block along the Baltimore & Ohio tracks were ablaze. The back of Littleton, the Opera house, the commercial hotel and several smaller stores and residences were destroyed.

From this block the flames swept across the Baltimore & Ohio tracks to the Exchange bank and the Delbragg hotel. Flames spread from house to house with great rapidity. Assistance was sent from Wheeling and also from Cameron, W. Va., and dynamite was resorted to, but the high wind carried the flames across the streets and over tracks, licking up the frame dwellings in its path. One hundred houses were burned.

THIRTY FREIGHT CARS IN WRECK

A RUNAWAY FREIGHT TRAIN LEAVES TRACK ON A STEEP GRADE NEAR TRINIDAD. NO ONE KILLED.

TRINIDAD, Colo., Feb. 9.—Thirty freight cars and an engine are piled up in a broken mass at Morley, ten miles west of this city, on the Santa Fé railroad, and all traffic is blockaded in consequence of the wreck, which occurred early today.

The wrecked freight was a California fruit train east bound. Just after leaving the tunnel, near the top of Raton mountain, the engineer lost control, the air brakes failing to work. The engineer and firemen jumped and were badly bruised. Two brakemen are missing, and are supposed to be buried under the wreck.

The train came down the mountain side at frightful velocity. At the long trestle on a sharp curve at the base of the mountain, the engine went off the rails, followed by the entire train.

Wrecking cranes from La Junta are working on both sides of the wreck. Traffic will not be resumed before night. The California limited and four other west-bound passenger trains are held here.

Trainmen who arrived here tonight from Morley stated that Engineer Vaughn was seriously injured, but his recovery is expected. The brakemen who were missed and who were supposed to have been caught under the wreckage have appeared on the scene and are uninjured. One track was cleared of wreckage late this afternoon and traffic was resumed.

LEEDS AND FIELD VACANCIES FILLED

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Directors of six companies in the Rock Island railroad system at meetings today elected officers to fill the vacancies left by the resignation of W. B. Leeds. Offices held by the late Marshall Field were also filled.

In positions formerly held by Mr. Leeds in the Rock Island company, Robert Mather was elected a member of the finance committee; James Campbell was elected a director and B. F. Youkum was elected chairman of the board of directors. Mr. Youkum was also elected a member of the finance committee in place of Marshall Field.

WELLMAN PREPARING FOR POLAR FLIGHT

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—In a cablegram to the Record-Herald from Paris today Walter Wellman says that the steamer Frithjof has been chartered and his North Pole expedition will start for Spitzbergen about the middle of June. In that Arctic region under climatic conditions approaching those of the pole, the final trials of the airship will be made before starting for the North pole.

WARM WORDS IN COMMITTEE

DOLLIVER AND CLAPP RESENT THE "LEVITY" OF SOME MEMBERS.

ALDRICH DECLARES THAT THE AMENDMENTS ARE OFFERED TO RAILROAD BILL IN UTMOST SINCERITY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The senate committee on interstate commerce today began consideration of the Hepburn rate bill, which passed the house yesterday. Today was devoted to the first section, which described the kind of transportation to which the act shall apply.

Several amendments were suggested by senators unfriendly to the bill, but none was voted on today.

It is generally considered that the Hepburn bill with only few modifications will have a majority report when the committee votes next Friday.

No Progress Made.

It became evident during the discussion of the various amendments that the arrangements to discuss the bill during the next week would accomplish no important result so great were the differences of the opponents and champions of the bill. Senators Dolliver and Clapp charged that the amendments were offered to obstruct the perfection of a bill that stands a good chance to become a law. Senator Aldrich replied that the amendments had been offered seriously, whereupon Senator Clapp announced that he would "waste no more time" in the consideration of the bill, but would be present to vote on the measure on February 16. He then left the committee room.

After the departure of Senator Clapp, Senator Dolliver took the committee to task for its "levity" in considering railroad rate legislation. He called attention to the fact that the committee had been conducting hearings since last summer and had not arrived at any agreement. He charged that some members of the committee did not appear to desire an agreement.

Resents Charge of Levity.

Objection was made by Senator Aldrich to the charge that "levity" had been displayed and said that he had been serious in everything that he had offered. Warming to the defense of his sincerity, he said that he would talk in any manner he pleased in discussing the proposed legislation, and would not be called to account by Senator Dolliver.

The Iowa senator, in his final emphasis, replied that he too would choose his own language and characterize as he chose methods that he said had been resorted to. Chairman Elkins, who had participated in the early dispute, rapped for order and a few minutes later the committee adjourned.

BILL FOR ANOTHER JUDICIAL DISTRICT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Representative Brooks has introduced a bill to establish two judicial districts in the state of Colorado. It provides that the counties of Routt, Grand, Summit, Lake, Larimer, Weld, Logan, Sedgwick, Phillips, Morgan, Yuma, Washington, Adams, Arapahoe, Boulder, Gilpin, Clear Creek, Jefferson, Park, Douglas, El Paso, Elbert, Lincoln, Kit Carson and the city and county of Denver shall constitute the northern district of Colorado. The remainder of the state will constitute the southern district of Colorado.

AMERICAN COTTON MILLS TO PAY HIGHER WAGES

LONDON, Feb. 9.—The mill owners of the northern counties have granted the cotton operatives an increase of wages amounting to 2½ per cent, commencing with May. The increase will affect 150,000 operatives. This is the first time in 30 years that they have been placed on the full wage standard adopted 50 years ago.

KILLED BY BOMB

Two Wings of Russian Revolutionists Are Fighting Each Other.

A BLOODY TRAGEDY

KILLING OF WORKMEN AT PUTILOFF FACTORY ALSO THE OUTGROWTH OF THE ILL FEELING.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 9.—The war between the fighting organizations of the revolutionists and the so-called Black Hundred assumed a new phase tonight when a band of Reds surrounded the Cabaret Schueleesberg chausee on the bank of the Nevsky, above the city, and threw a bomb among an assemblage of workmen. The Reds then opened fire on the panic-stricken inmates of the cabaret, killing two and seriously wounding eighteen, of which latter one died while being taken to the hospital.

Military detachments which are constantly patrolling the turbulent suburbs, hurried to the scene of the disturbance, reinforced by dragoons and police from the city and threw a cordon around the whole district. Most of the revolutionists made off at the approach of the troops, but a few bolder spirits remained and offered a desultory resistance to the soldiers.

Wholesale arrests were made which were still continuing up to a late hour tonight.

The bomb which was hurled through a window into the main room of the restaurant, demolished almost the entire building. A wooden partition was blown out and much furniture, glassware and crockery were shattered. The ruins were splattered with blood and pieces of flesh, the whole presenting a sickening sight.

The restaurant had been for some time known as a resort of the lower order of workmen and rough characters who were believed to be in the pay of the police. The killing of three workmen at the Putiloff factory yesterday and tonight's affair are believed to be but a prelude to other acts of retaliation and revenge between the two factions.

ENTOMBED MINERS COLD AND HUNGRY

STOCKTON, Cal., Feb. 9.—Information today from the App mine at Quartz, Tuolumne county, where two miners have been held in a drift by a cave-in, since Monday night, is to the effect that there is little likelihood of rescuing them before tomorrow at the outside and possibly not for two days, as the earth continues to cave almost as fast as it can be removed. Efforts are being made to drive an 8-inch pipe through the debris, estimated to be fifteen feet thick, that food may be passed in to the miners, who have eaten nothing since last Monday at midnight. They have plenty of water, but complain of the cold.

VICE ADMIRAL CHOUKNIN WOUNDED BY A WOMAN

SEBASTOPOL, Feb. 9.—Vice Admiral Chouknin, commander of the Black sea fleet, was wounded today by a woman who attacked him in his office. A sentry who rushed to the admiral's assistance shot the woman dead. No statement has been issued relative to the extent of Admiral Chouknin's injury.

REVOLUTIONISTS ARRESTED.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 9.—General Linevitch reports that wholesale arrests of revolutionists have been made at Chita. Among those arrested are 81 soldiers.

PEOPLE OF THE ISTHMUS LIKE UNCLE SAM'S MONEY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Charles E. Magoon, governor of the Panama canal zone, was before the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals today and gave his testimony in connection with the investigation of canal work. In response to a request from Chairman Millard, Governor Magoon outlined conditions on the isthmus, when he was assigned to duty there last spring. He had, he said, found an excellent organization for the government zone, but with men there who were much overworked and very anxious over the possible effects of the disorganization. No removals were made. The sanitary force was also well organized and it had done and is now doing excellent work. The government had been especially fortunate in securing in that force a number of army men who had been engaged in the sanitation of Cuba. Governor Magoon contended that fever conditions in Panama are better than formerly.

Need Postal Changes.

At the afternoon session Judge Magoon continued his explanation of the government of the canal zone. He said that the apparent 10 per cent profit made by this government through the purchase and use of Panamanian stamps surcharged "canal zone" would not pay the cost of the postal service in the zone, and said legislation would be necessary to adjust many of them. About half of the letters are stamped by private parties. One explanation given by Governor Magoon of the interest the United States had in establishing the Panama currency was that the use of American money doubled the cost of everything as the people wanted as many silver dollars worth 100 cents as they had received pesos worth 50 cents for articles sold.

Discussing the necessity for the coinage system and the agreement by which the United States agreed to maintain the parity, Governor Magoon said the new currency became so popular that it was almost immediately absorbed by commerce.

People Like Our Money.

Senator Morgan asked if the United States should not establish a subtreasury on the isthmus to aggregate the necessary silver. Governor Magoon replied that that could be done, but that as rapidly as the silver was shipped to the treasury and paid out it would disappear and never come back, that the people liked the money because it was stable, and it drove out all their circulating mediums.

"That is about the most logical free silver plan exploited since Mr. Cleveland——" began Mr. Morgan. He had meant to say Mr. Bryan, but after a pause he completed his observation as he began it, and repeated "since Mr. Cleveland disappeared."

The examination of Governor Magoon will be continued Monday.

MORMON CHURCH OPERATES A SALT TRUST, SAYS WITNESS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—The introduction of testimony against Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, was closed by the protestants' counsel today.

A. S. Worthington, who represents the senator, said he was not ready to proceed, but that he would communicate with Chairman Burrows within a few days.

The character of the evidence offered this session, said Mr. Worthington, had convinced him of the desirability of calling witnesses for the defense. With reference to the list of the members of the Utah constitutional convention, members of the legislature, and state officers, charged to have been polygamists, Mr. Worthington said that it might be necessary to call from 100 to 200 witnesses to disprove the testimony of the prosecution, unless the committee permitted the filing of affidavits. He said that Senator Smoot was anxious that the case should be cleared and that there should not be one day of avoidable delay.

C. A. Smurthwaite, of Ogden, was called for cross examination by A. S. Worthington, counsel for Senator Smoot, in the proceedings today before the committee on privileges and elections.

[illegible] said the object of the church is to lay [illegible] salt from $8 to $3 a ton. The witness said his company had been compelled to pile up its production. The effect, he said, was to injure his credit and depreciate the value of the stock of the company. After explaining the tithing system of the Mormon church, Mr. Smurthwaite was asked if the tithes were invested in corporations.

"I am fearful that it is," he replied. He estimated that tithing brought the church a revenue of from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000 a year, but no accounting had been made so far as he knew.

The protestants' counsel then announced their case was closed.

"Yes, the leaders of the church convinced me that was impossible."

Senator Knox then inquired of the witness if the Mormon first presidency had followed up its threat to ruin him because he insisted upon continuing in the salt business. He said his [illegible] went [illegible] to do everything in their power to adjust the difficulties. Mr. Worthington asked Mr. Smurthwaite if he had any [illegible] to believe his troubles with [illegible] Smith and their rival [illegible] would not have been settled in the [illegible] way. The witness replied:

PATRICK DOLAN HOLDS OFFICE BY INJUNCTION

PITTSBURG, Feb. 9.—Patrick Dolan, president of district No. 5, United Mine Workers of America, went into court today and secured a temporary injunction restraining the delegates to the district convention now in session here from interfering with his powers as president of the district organization.

The fifth day's session of the convention opened today with President Dolan presiding and for the first time since the convention convened there was perfect order and quiet. A resolution providing that hereafter all changes in the constitution be made by a two-thirds majority was unanimously carried.

TIRED OF LIFE
AWFUL SUFFERING

From Dreadful Pains From Wound on Foot—System All Run Down After Six Months' Agony—Not Able to Work—Completely Cured in Two Weeks

MIRACULOUS CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Words cannot speak highly enough for the Cuticura Remedies. I am now twenty-two years of age. My system had been all run down. My blood was so bad that blood poisoning had set in. I had several doctors attending me, so finally I went to the hospital, where I was laid up for two months. My foot and ankle were almost beyond recognition. Dark blood flowed out of wounds in many places, and I was so disheartened that I thought surely my last chance was only leaving me. As the foot did not improve, you can readily imagine how I felt. I was simply disgusted and tired of life. I stood this pain, which was dreadful, for six months, and during this time I was not able to wear a shoe and not able to work.

"Soon one spoke to me about Cuticura. The consequences were I bought a set of the Cuticura Remedies of one of my friends who was a druggist, and the praise that I gave after five minutes application is beyond description; it seemed a miracle, for the Cuticura Remedies took effect immediately. I washed the foot with the Cuticura Soap before applying the Ointment and I took the Resolvent at the same time. After two weeks' treatment my foot was healed completely. People who had seen my foot during my illness, and who have seen it since the cure, can hardly believe their own eyes."

CAN THE GOVERNMENT CONTROL INSURANCE?

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Acting under instruction of the house, the judiciary committee today began an investigation in order that it may report whether or not congress has the power to provide for the control of insurance. That this authority does exist was maintained by R. W. Breckenridge of Omaha, Neb., chairman of the insurance commission of the American Bar association. The opposite view of the question was presented to the committee by George Whitlock of Baltimore. The bar association by a vote of 113 to 29 sent to its insurance committee for consideration a resolution declaring federal control of insurance illegal and unconstitutional under the decisions of the supreme court of the United States. Mr. Whitlock was the author of that resolution and presented that view today.

Mr. Breckenridge presented statistics to show that the insurance business was national and not local in character. Of twenty of the largest insurance companies, he said, but 15 per cent of their business was done in the states wherein they were chartered.

Mr. Whitlock contended that the American Bar association had not committed itself on the question and that if the supreme court had ever established any doctrine, it was that insurance was not commerce. Three chief justices and twenty assistant justices had all gone on record to that effect.

MINER INJURED AND MAY LOSE ONE OF HIS ARMS

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 9.—W. J. Rowden, a miner on the Vindicator No. 5, was struck today by rock thrown by a missed shot. Amputation of his right hand may be necessary. His neck and breast were torn by flying rock.

DIED OF PNEUMONIA.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 9.—Clark E. Lockwood, until recently employed as a motorman on the electric line, died of acute pneumonia at the Sisters hospital today. He was 40 years of age and is survived by a brother, sister and brother-in-law at Colorado Springs and two sisters in Illinois. Interment will be at Colorado Springs, Sunday.

PETITION DENIED.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 9.—The petition of C. A. Huxley to secure an accounting from F. F. Maynard of the profits of the French lease on Stratton's Independence in which both are interested, was denied by Judge Seeds in the district court today after the presentation of arguments. Judgment for costs was rendered in favor of the defendant.

CONFESSES MURDER.

HELEN KELLER NOT DANGEROUSLY ILL

WRENTHAM, Mass., Feb. 9.—The physical and mental strain of her course at Radcliffe college and the subsequent work which Helen Keller, the deaf, dumb and blind woman, has been doing to aid those similarly affected, has caused illness on the part of Miss Keller.

Her physician has ordered a long period of complete rest, and, in accordance with his directions, all work which Miss Keller had in hand and several engagements to appear at public meetings in aid of the blind, have been given up.

Miss Keller's condition is reported as slightly improved this afternoon. Mr. Weed explained that the young woman had no disease, but was suffering from exhaustion. He did not consider Miss Keller's condition dangerous or so serious as to occasion any alarm among her friends.

PUEBLO MURDER TRIAL ENDS IN AN ACQUITTAL.

PUEBLO, Colo., Feb. 9.—The jury in the case of Edward Robertson, who has been on trial charged with the murder of William Chaffee, a city fireman, whom he shot to death November 20, returned a verdict today that the shooting was done in self-defense.

EHLER ACCUSES; EMMONS DENIES VICTIM OF MYSTERIOUS SHOOTING IN CALIFORNIA SAYS FORMER STATE SENATOR DID IT.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Feb. 9.—Former State Senator E. J. Emmons who is voluntarily in the county jail preparing his bill of exceptions in the legislative bribery case indignantly denied the statement of Charles Ehler that Emmons had shot him at Bakersfield last December. Emmons said:

"I deny Ehler's statement absolutely. The story is made out of whole cloth. He would not dare say that if I were not in jail, for he knows that I am in a position to prove by incontrovertible evidence that it was a physical impossibility for me to have been near him when he was shot; that I never had a weapon for a month prior to the shooting and that he shot himself with a small derringer purchased by himself three or four days before to use on a fellow clerk in Red Lick's store.

"I think it is an unfair, an unjust and a cowardly proposition for the press of California to be hammering me in my defenseless condition here. My wife and two children are absolutely helpless under these attacks. I intend to institute libel proceedings to establish the falsity of these stories. I am tired of all this misrepresentation."

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 9.—An Examiner special from Los Angeles says that Charles E. Ehler, who was shot just above the heart in Bakersfield on December 1 last, has arrived there and that he has broken his long silence regarding the shooting and made the following statement:

"Until now I have refused to say who shot me. It has been a much mooted question whether it was done by someone interested in the Goebel murder case of Frankfort, Ky., in which I am credited with having been an important witness, or state senator E. J. Emmons of Bakersfield."

He then goes on to declare that Emmons shot him for an alleged insult to Mrs. Emmons.

COAL OPERATORS OF ILLINOIS TO FIGHT THE UNION

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—At a meeting of the Illinois coal operators which was held today at the Auditorium hotel, it was decided by a unanimous vote to refuse the demands made by the United Mine Workers of America. The meeting was executive in character, and was attended by 200 coal operators from all over the state. The report of the national scale committee was approved without a dissenting vote. The report covered the conference recently held in Indianapolis between the coal operators and the deputies of the United Mine Workers. The decision to refuse the demands of the miners was reached in a few minutes after the reading of the report had been heard. At the close of the convention, the following statement was given out:

"The Illinois Coal Operators' association received the report of its scale committee and unanimously approved its action in refusing to accede to the demands made upon the operators by the United Mine Workers of America."

No other business than the approval of the report came before the meeting, and the question of whether or not the mines would be operated with non-union men in the event of a strike on April 1, was not discussed.

HARVARD PROFESSOR HONORED IN BERLIN

BERLIN, Feb. 9.—Prof. Francis Peabody, of Harvard university, delivered his final lecture in Germany today, summarizing his work here. The lecture was delivered in the largest hall of the university, the doors of which had to be closed, turning many people away.

After the lecture, Dr. Studt, the minister of education, expressed the hearty thanks and satisfaction of his ministry at the important inauguration of the system of exchanging professors, thereby instituting an intellectual bridge between the two peoples, which insured cordial relations.

The rector of the university, Professor Diels, proposed three cheers for Professor Peabody, which were given vigorously. Count von Schmetow, the emperor's adjutant, was present in behalf of the emperor, who sent the professor his photograph with an autograph.

Professor Peabody and Mrs. Peabody, and Dr. Dickie, pastor of the American church here, and Mrs. Dickie will sail for New York tomorrow on the Hamburg-American line steamer America.

HERMAN-HERRERA HONORS ARE EVEN

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 9.—Kid Herman of Chicago and Aurelio Herrera of Bakersfield, Cal., fought a 20-round-draw before the Pacific Athletic club tonight. The fight was an interesting one, a fine exhibition of cleverness on Herman's part and aggressiveness on the part of Herrera. With the disadvantages in height, weight and reach to overcome, Herman fought with splendid generalship and cleverness.

From the first to the fifteenth round Herman had a decided lead on points, using his left to Herrera's body successfully, especially in the infighting, of which there was a great deal. Herrera, who was stronger and showed the hardest punch, tried hard to land his knockout right on the jaw, but did not land it squarely during the entire fight. He staggered Herman several times by hitting him on the back of the neck and head, but the clever ducking and quick recovery of the Chicago boy saved him from serious harm.

After the tenth round Herman began to pay his attention to Herrera's face and head, using a stiff left jab that found its mark on Herrera's face many times. As long as he boxed with Herrera and kept him from setting himself for a blow Herman had the advantage but in the exchanges Herrera's superior hitting ability told.

WEST AND VOKES AT THE OPERA HOUSE

The new edition of West and Vokes and Margaret Daly Vokes' musical frolic, "A Pair of Pinks," is announced for presentation at the Opera house this evening. Theater patrons can certainly congratulate themselves upon being able to enjoy the clever fun, music and spectacle these popular comedians have prepared for laughing purposes only. The evolutions of "Percy" and "Harold" during the past twelve years are well known to all interested in amusements. From the two misfit tramp bankers, governors, merchants, they now appear as two crafty detectives, seeking to find the man who will not laugh, and incidentally to introduce a large company of merry comedians and attractive sprightly girls in a pot pourri of big musical and dancing numbers interspersed with telling and intresting specialties and a convulsive, though not overburdened plot. Prominent among the expert aiders and abettors of the well-known duo is the popular comedienne, Margaret Daly Vokes, whose portrayal of the "rube girl" character has long been one of the most admired of all stage pictures on account of its accuracy of representation and droll humor. In the character of "Miss Mag Netic" the society scrub-lady, ample opportunity is afforded for the introduction of the laughable "country" quadrilles of which this lady has long been the leading exponent. Several characteristic songs are introduced by her that are new, refreshing and decidedly in keeping with the demands of a fun-loving public.

CONSENTS TO TALK ON "FORBIDDEN FRUIT"

Several of the patrons of the lectures recently delivered in Majestic hall by Dr. Alexander J. McIvor-Tyndall, have persuaded the famous psychist to remain over Sunday and have arranged for a final lecture for tomorrow (Sunday) evening, the subject being one that caused so much comment recently in Denver.

"Forbidden Fruit," will be the theme of the startling discourse, and the public is invited to be present.

Dr. McIvor-Tyndall was to have terminated his work here last week, but was prevailed upon to remain over Sunday in order that the revival along the lines of new thought he has inaugurated during his visit here, might be prolonged.

The visit of the noted leader has resulted in several psychic science study clubs being formed and also in the promulgation of a local publication for the wider dissemination of the philosophy of optimism, taught by the noted lecturer, and those who have the welfare of the metaphysical movement here at heart, are both in witness Dr. McIvor-Tyndall's departure.

Extra seats will be arranged for the lecture in Majestic hall Sunday evening, and the largest audience of the season is expected.

TWICE-TOLD TESTIMONY

Colorado Springs People Are Doing All They Can for Fellow Sufferers.

Colorado Springs testimony has been published to prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills to others in Colorado Springs who suffer from bad backs and kidney ills. Lest any sufferer doubt that the cures made by Doan's Kidney Pills are thorough and lasting, we produce confirmed proof—statements from Colorado Springs people saying that the cures they told of years ago were permanent. Here's a Colorado Springs case.

C. S. Keep, Associated Press at the Gazette office, residence 1611 North Royer avenue, says: "In the month of June, 1899, I stated through the Gazette that long before I came to Colorado Springs I knew all about Doan's Kidney Pills in the state of Massachusetts, where they are considered a household remedy. I used them several years ago for a lame and aching back which was not severe enough to lay me off work but sufficient to cause me a considerable amount of discomfort. Since then I have used them on several occasions when symptoms or recurrences made themselves manifest. Two or three days' treatment is all that is required to ward off what might be a serious attack. Doan's Kidney Pills are one remedy which acts fully up to the representations made for it and I cheerfully endorse the statement I made over three years ago."

Plenty more proof like this from Colorado Springs people. Call at D. T. Butcher Drug Co.'s store and ask what their customers report.

JAKE BORAH'S PARTY KILLED SIX LIONS

That the big hunt which is being conducted in the western part of the state by Jake Borah, the famous guide of President Roosevelt during his visit in Colorado last year, is meeting with great success is contained in telegrams received daily at the Colorado Midland office.

C. M. Keck, who represents the road at Glenwood Springs, is out with the party, and every night sends in a wire covering the amount of big game bagged during the day. The first day out the hunters killed two lions, a dozen lynxes and several bob-cats. Yesterday was more productive and six lions were slain, together with a score of bob-cats and wildcats. One bear, that had evidently crawled out of his winter's quarters to take a look around, was also shot.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES

A "roomers' social" was given at the Y. M. C. A. last night by the roomers in the Y. M. C. A. building. There are fifty men roosting there and forty were present at the social. Each one was called upon to tell a short story, after which they each gave their name, date and place of birth, and places they have lived. Refreshments were served during the evening.

A THOUSAND DOLLARS THROWN AWAY

"My wife had lung trouble for over fifteen years," writes Mr. W. W. Baker, of Plainview, Neb. "We tried a number of doctors and spent over a thousand dollars without any relief. She was very low and I lost all hope, when a friend suggested trying Foley's Honey and Tar, which I did, and thanks be to this great remedy, it saved her life. She is stronger and enjoys better health than she has ever known in ten years. We shall never be without Foley's Honey and Tar and would ask those afflicted to try it." HIGH SCHOOL DEBATERS CHOOSE REPRESENTATIVES

At the preliminary meeting for choosing the Adelphian representatives yesterday afternoon the following debaters were chosen: Bruce, Gustin, Marion Dietrich and Abraham Pfeiffer. Gustin received honorable mention in the inter-scholastic oratorical contest for the southern division held at Colorado college last March, and won first place in the state contest at Boulder the following May. He also represented the Adelphi in the Era-Adelphia debate of '05. At present he is president of the Adelphi. Dietrich and Pfeiffer are prominent in the Adelphi and are very good debaters. Professors Walker, Du Bach and Aylard judged the contest.

SMOOT.

AT LAST there seems to be a slight chance that the Smoot case is nearing an end; though he would be a rash prophet who would predict that a vote on the matter will be reached even in the present session. The Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections has been keeping this case in the air with the skill of a juggler for nearly three years. Senator Smoot was sworn in on March 4, 1903, and ever since then the committee has been considering his right to membership. The net result so far is merely a considerable addition to the public's stock of knowledge about Mormonism. It has appeared for some time that the committee is successfully trying to sidestep an exceedingly delicate and dangerous situation.

Yesterday the introduction of testimony against the Mormon Senator was closed by counsel for the protestants, and in a few days counsel for the defense will present their case. The evidence adduced at this hearing is of the same general character as that brought to light in previous sessions. Personally, Smoot has come out with flying colors, but enough has been shown against the political and religious system he represents, and which sent him to the Senate, to condemn it without qualification. The Mormon church, as it is now conducted, has no right to exist, for it is immoral, illegal and un-American. Its members are bound by secret oaths which require of them a higher allegiance to the church than they pay to the Constitution and flag of their country. Numerous competent witnesses have testified before the committee that polygamy is still practiced, and this statement has not been disproved. The whole fabric of which the institution is composed seems to be thoroughly rotten, and until it has been completely cleansed it ought not to be tolerated.

Smoot's qualifications for the position he now holds are ample, and he is perhaps as good a Senator as any member of the Mormon church could be. But this—if it is not a question of the individual, but of the system he represents. Several years ago the Mormons tried to break into Congress for the first time, and they chose as the man to make the attempt a polygamist. He was summarily thrown out, so they renewed the attack with a man against whom no charges of this kind could be made. They elected him to the Senate and have succeeded in keeping him there for three years, or half of his term. The Senate is the sole judge of the qualifications of its members, and if it wanted to, could expel the Utah man without formality. But for political reasons the case has been permitted to drag along through three sessions when it could have been settled in one.

The Senate ought to take the high ground that the presence in its membership of a representative of an organization so reprehensible as the Mormon church is contrary to public policy, and expel him forthwith. This would establish a precedent likely to be remembered by Mormon communities hereafter when they think of invading Congress, for it would be a plain, straightforward notification to them that until their church is reformed none of its members, however clean and able personally, can hope to be admitted to the national legislature. The Constitution guarantees religious liberty, but it contains no provision sanctioning an organization which seeks in religious guise to undermine the most typically American principles of social and political morality.

TOO MANY LAWS.

ACCORDING to the dictionaries, a legislature is a law-making body, and if anybody thinks that the men who make up the legislatures in this country do not accept this definition literally he has only to examine statistics showing the volume of their work. We Americans seem to have a passion for making laws. Whenever a legislature meets, in any state, a perfect deluge of bills is introduced; bills for this and bills for that; bills to amend old laws and bills to create new laws. Probably on an average not more than one in a score of these measures is ever enacted, but the legislators struggle manfully to get as many laws as possible on the statute books before the time set for the expiration of the session, and it is not entirely their fault that we haven't twice as many laws as now exist.

Congress does the thing on a bigger scale, because it is in session longer than the state legislatures and there are more members to frame laws. In the first session of the Fifty-eighth Congress 2,100 new statutes were enacted. It is a legal maxim that every man is presumed to know the law, but if any one man succeeds in mastering all of the laws made by Congress at that one session he will have performed a marvelous feat. But think what we would have to accomplish if our national legislature had placed on the statute books all of the bills presented to it. In the House alone nearly 16,000 bills were introduced. In 1904 the nineteen state legislatures then in session passed nearly 20,000 statutes. The output of the various law-making bodies now sitting will probably be fully up to this mark.

Then to all these laws is added the enormous volume of judicial decisions which constitute a part of the law, the aggregate is positively terrifying. In the year 1893 no fewer than 18,734 cases were decided in the Federal and state courts, setting disputed points of law and legal practice. It has been said that half the time and labor devoted by the appellate courts to determining legal questions is spent in correcting the mistakes of lawyers; that is, in teaching lawyers how to practice law. A considerable share of the work of the higher courts is devoted too, to knocking out legislation, devised and enacted by legislators whose entirety is greater than their discretion.

Every year produces its bountiful crop of freak legislation, a crop which is always unusually large just after an unexpected political upheaval has filled the state capitols with solons who were nominated without a thought of their possible election. A few years ago a Republican who had broken into the Missouri legislature, much to the surprise of himself and everybody else, introduced a bill creating the office of state watermelon inspector, and his equally verdant colleagues actually enacted it into law. A member of the New York assembly introduced a bill to punish with fine and imprisonment anybody who unsuccessfully attempted suicide. He evidently thought that the fear of such punishment would be a greater deterrent than the fear of death, but his associates decided otherwise and the bill was killed, greatly to his chagrin.

It is probable that four-fifths of the laws passed the country over are either unwise or unnecessary, but the knowledge of this fact is by no means likely to deter the law-makers. They will keep right on grinding out legislation in wholesale quantities, but after all the result of their activity is not very serious, though it does keep the higher courts busy.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE.

SENATOR OVERMAN, of North Carolina, an enthusiast in his advocacy of measures designed to increase the foreign trade of this country, suggested some time ago that a commission of five members be appointed to study the whole question of the world's commerce, with the aid of experts, to determine how and to what extent new markets may be gained. To illustrate its needs he said:

"It is generally recognized that there is a strong need of such a commission because of the poor showing made by our manufactured exports of raw material. The cotton projects of the south are increasing every year. The south exports more than 7,000,000 bales of raw cotton, which are manufactured into cotton goods in England and sent back to South America, where $52,000,000 worth were sold to Argentine alone last year. Why should we not get that trade instead of England? This commission is intended to help find that market."

About the time this interview was published came a news item stating that the Argentine government had voted to pay a subvention of $750,000 for the establishment of a fast steamship line between Argentina and European ports. There is not now and never has been direct steamship connection between Argentina and American ports, except by slow freighters, and the quickest way to get from New York to Buenos Ayres is via England or France. The same thing is true of our connections with other South American ports, and it is worthy of note that South American governments are not voting any money to subsidize steamship lines to the United States.

A reason for this was stated two or three years ago by an official representative of Argentina in this country. He said that the two great commodities which his country has to sell are wool and hides, and that while all European countries are willing to accept them duty free, the United States bars them out by the imposition of a high tariff. So far as wool is concerned, it would be very hard to remedy this difficulty, for America's wool growers have never prospered except when enjoying the protection of the tariff; but there is another obstacle in the way of trade relations with South America which certainly could be removed. This is the sending out of untrained commercial agents who are unfamiliar with the language and customs of the countries in which they attempt to do business; faulty methods of packing and shipping goods, etc. These matters have repeatedly been brought to the attention of exporters by our consular agents abroad, and if the conditions complained of were remedied it is certain that the United States would get a far larger share of South American trade than is now coming to it.

A revolution is threatened in Venezuela because of popular disapproval of President Castro's course. Under the circumstances this is the greatest blessing that could befall Venezuela. To be rid of Castro would be worth the price of a revolution.

Count Boni had to pawn his watch two days after his wife filed suit for divorce. How can so improvident a man expect sympathy? He ought to have had at least six months' supply of money in the bank to guard against emergencies.

Tom Lawson has ended his frenzied narrative, and Ida Tarbell announces that she will write no more concerning the Standard Oil Company. But there's no rest for the wicked. Missouri is still camping on the trail of the octopus.

Senators Spooner and La Follette are now quarreling over the Wisconsin patronage. Well, it might as well be over patronage as anything else. They are dead certain to quarrel over something anyway.

The Senate is said to be highly indignant over the aspersions cast on it by the newspapers and magazines, and wondering what it can do to right itself with the country. It might try mending its ways.

The repeated assurances from Berlin that Germany has no desire to force France into war may or may not indicate that the Kaiser is getting ready to climb gracefully down from the perch.

George Ade's neighbors want to send him to Congress, and W. D. Howells wants him to stop writing slang. Mr. Ade seems in serious danger of being killed by kindness.

The announcement that the Senate will accept the Hepburn bill arouses the suspicion that after all there is something radically wrong with the measure.

LIEUT. PIKE'S DIARY

For One Hundred Years Ago Today

Monday, 10th February, 1806.—Hoisted the American flag in the fort, the English jack still flying at the top of the flag-staff; I directed the Indians and my riflemen to shoot at it; they soon broke the iron pin to which it was fastened, and brought it to the ground.

CLEAN POLITICS VS. CORRUPTION.

There was a remarkable scene, of great enthusiasm and potentiality, at the last annual convention of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, on the occasion of an address by Hon. Charles J. Bonaparte, secretary of the navy and president of the National Municipal league. Mr. Bonaparte is one of the leading laymen of the Roman Catholic church and the welcome given him by this great Protestant gathering was a strong testimony to broadening spirit of the times. In part the speaker said:

"Between these two classes (those desiring pure and impure politics) there is, and should be, a warfare without truce or quarter, for whoever would not do good in any form to his fellow men finds the degradation of our political life a hindrance in his path. If he would protect the public health, wisely relieve want, train youth, shelter the unfortunate, suppress vice or punish crime, he must deal with the 'boss' and 'ring,' and, to do his allotted work well, must sooner or later sweep them from his path. He cannot, however much he would, let them alone, for they will not, indeed, they cannot let him alone. Could he and those like-minded with him attain full success, their power and prosperity were doomed, for they would then have no victim whereon to prey, no dupes to do their work; by the very law of their being they are the natural enemies of every one who would lead others to a higher, purer and healthier life. Men like them have made their trade so dangerous, so odious, so noisome, that against it every voice in our midst that makes for righteousness must be directed tomorrow, as it should be today.

"To have a good, popular government, we must first of all, and before all else, have good citizens. Burke's well known words have been often quoted; but we cannot too steadily remember that, as he said, 'there never was long a corrupt government, of a virtuous people.' When we find any self governing community afflicted with misgovernment, we can safely and fairly believe that it does not deserve a better fate. It may indeed wish to be well governed, just as many a drunkard, in his seasons of repentance and headache, wishes he were temperate, just as many a defaulter, as yet undetected, in saner moments wishes he could repay what he has taken, and feel himself once more an honest man. But, as such men do not wish hard enough to keep away, the first from the bar, the second from the faro table of Wall street, so such a nation, state, or city does not wish hard enough for good government to make bad government impossible.

"I remember a story of a man who had been run over in the street; a sympathizing crowd gathered around him, and many expressions of compassion were heard. A preoccupied man, hurrying to his business, stopped, took in the situation with a glance, and said: 'Well, friends, I pity him one dollar's worth for a back to take him home; how much do you pity him?'

"Of course we are all patriots, but what is the value, in dollars and cents, in sacrifice of money, time, or personal inclination, of our patriotism? We long to see good and wise men in public office, the people's burden light, the people's work well done; but, if we put this longing in the scales, what will overbalance it? Will some mean and trivial gratification of self-interest of vanity out-weigh it? Say the hope quartering an incompetent relative or dependent on the taxpayers for support? Say the prospect of becoming a presidential elector or a colonel or general of the governor's staff? Will sheer indolence and cowardice outweight it? The dread of unaccustomed, distasteful work, the fear of abuse and personal enmity? Will it be found wanting when matched against the mere squeamishness which runs away from coarse and ugly surroundings, however vital the task to be done in their midst, much as a man might rather die of typhoid fever than clean out a sink?

"The true lesson is that the question of good government in America is essentially a moral, and only incidentally a political, one; this is indeed true of all governments, but more clearly and emphatically of a popular government, than of any other. I mean by this that what the friends of good government in America (and especially in America of today) have to do is much less to devise methods for the constantly and forcibly to impress on the attention fairly clearly and frequently to set forth, and constantly and forcibly to impress on the attention of their fellow citizens, the true and admitted ends and principles of government, and the daily manifest and grievous derelictions of duty on the part of public officers and of the voters.

"If, letting Utopia take care of itself, dealing with a present duty, which of a surety needs and deserves our full strength, we obey the voice of honor and conscience within us, and do what we know ought to be done now and here, that which seemed impossible may well come to pass; indeed, it will surely come to pass, if we but try and try without ceasing to bring it. As we strive to gain a better government, we shall come to deserve one, and as and when we deserve this we shall have this. Freedom is not the birthright of slumberers.

"Those serve truth best who to themselves are true,
And what they dare to dream of dare to do."

Press Opinions

THE INCOME.

H. H. Rogers seems to be of the opinion that a man should not be too inquisitive regarding the source of his income as long as it comes regularly.—Omaha Bee.

"SEE AMERICA FIRST."

The organized movement to induce Americans to see America before going abroad as sightseers is most commendable, however much or little it accomplishes. Strange as it may seem, many people of this country actually go to Europe before they have seen Kansas City.—Kansas City Journal.

FREAK ADVERTISING DOESN'T PAY.

That business houses throughout the country, except those whose announcements are excluded from the newspapers and magazines, have tested, found nearly worthless and are abandoning freak advertising is certain. Boys have discovered that the poorest way to sell even newspapers is by obtrusively thrusting them under pedestrians' noses, and arousing resentment against both the papers and themselves.—Hudson (N. J.) Observer.

CAN'T DISCREDIT POULTNEY.

In reply to Poultney Bigelow's statement that copious rains caused the water to fill cellars and ruin many Panama houses, Chairman Shonts points out that there are no cellars in Panama. It is with such flimsy arguments as this that the administration seeks to discredit caustic criticisms. Suppose there are no cellars—that isn't Poultney's fault, is it? Why doesn't the commission dig some?—Kansas City Journal.

A HOARY ABUSE.

Abuse of the franking privilege is again charged. The system itself is an abuse. There is no more reason why members of congress should not pay for matter sent by them through the mails than there is that preachers should claim a rebate on all the necessities of life, including transportation. This is to say that there is no reason at all for such immunity. We are far from political equality while one salaried class or another claims and receives special privileges from the government or the people.—Portland Oregonian.

Mining For Mammoths In the Bad Lands

How the Monster Tyrannosaurus Rex Was Dug Out of His 8,000,000-Year-Old Tomb.

Our souls were wrought from the Tremador beds,
And furnished with wings to fly;
God sowed our spawn in the dim drab dawn,
And we know that it shall not die,
Though cities have sprung above the graves
Where the crook-boned men made war,
And the dragonly creeps over the buried caves
Where the mummied mammoths are.

ANOTHER mummied mammoth, or saurian, known as the Tyrannosaurus—the most formidable fighting animal of which there is any record whatever—has been resurrected in the Bad Lands of Montana and is now being restored in skeleton outline at the American Museum of Natural History. Not since the great brontosaurus skeleton was received at the same institution a year ago have archeologists and savants been so interested in a prehistoric discovery as in this new Tyrant Saurian, which is declared to be the king of all kings in the domain of animal life.

According to Prof. Henry F. Osborn and Dr. Barnum Brown, who have had charge of the new saurian treasure, Dr. Brown having recently returned from the remote regions of Montana where the huge skeleton was quarried, the newly discovered monster was the absolute war lord of the earth in his day—and his day was something like 8,000,000 years ago. Think of that! Seven million five hundred thousand years before the advent of man on earth, according to archeologists!

What are the dimensions of the monster fossil?

How was the discovery made?

What sort of tomb has held the extraordinary monarch for so many million years?

What were the conditions in which he and his contemporaries lived, when the Tyrannosaurus ruled over the animal kingdom?

Answering these queries chronologically, the Tyrannosaurus is believed to have weighed about thirty tons when stripped and ready for battle, when, in other words, in the prime of his powers. As you may remember, the giant Brontosaurus weighed nearly eighty tons; but compared with the Tyrannosaurus as a fighter he was but as an unwieldly elephant beside a royal man-eater of the jungle.

Fearfully and Wonderfully Made.

For the Tyrannosaurus was not only formidable in weight, but was the most agile monster of his generation. True, his foot covered an area of about 12 square feet, but it was built for agility as well as strength, being shaped like the foot of a bird, with three enormous toes in front and one extending backward. Each section of his gigantic backbone was 10 inches in diameter, his thigh bone was 6 feet long, and he probably measured 40 feet from head to tail tip.

But, as was unusual with prehistoric animals, he was admirably constructed to walk or fight erect on his hind legs, the fore legs, or paws, being used to defend himself, while most of his attacking and rending were done with his teeth. And such razor-edged teeth as they were and still are! The jawbone measures between three and four feet, and many of the teeth are a foot long.

Answering the second question, the quarry in which the skeleton has been buried for nearly 8,000,000 years is situated 130 miles northwest of Miles City, Mont.—the greatest distance from a railroad in the United States.

The quarry itself is a limstone hill, into which the bone hunters dug and blasted thirty feet back from the surface. Four men were occupied nearly three months in disinterring the bones of this one saurian, although detached bones to the number of nearly a hundred were discovered while the excavations were in progress.

Some years ago Director William T. Hornaday of the New York Zoological Park discovered a Triceratops horn on the site of the present quarry and brought it back to New York. On the strength of his important discovery the Brown expedition was at once formed and dispatched to the scene. While hunting for other bones of the Triceratops the fossil hunters came across the Tyrannosaurus by mere chance. Wherein, as Prof. Osborn vouchsafed, lies one of the charms of fossil hunting—the gambling element.

Difficulties of Fossil Hunting.

Like the prospector for gold, says this distinguished archeologist, the fossil hunter may pass suddenly from the extreme of dejection to the heights of elation. Luck comes in a great variety of ways, sometimes as a sequel to the protracted and deliberate scientific search of a region known to be fossiliferous, sometimes in such an unromantic manner as digging a well.

While the Hell Gulch quarry, in which the latest finds have been made, postdates what is known as the Bone Cabin quarry in Central Wyoming, the latter is one of the richest and most remarkable fossil fields ever come to light. The fortunate scientific explorer who stumbled on this remote treasure-trove was Prof. Walter Granger of the American Museum expedition of 1897.

Prof. Osborn subsequently visited the quarry and found it to be a hillock apparently embossed with dark brown boulders. On closer examination it was revealed that hardly a single rock, hardly a pebble even, was on the hillock, all the apparent boulders being ponderous fossils which had slowly accumulated or washed out on the surface from a great dinosaur bed underneath. A Mexican sheep herder had gathered several of these petrified bones for the foundation of his cabin, the first ever built of such strange material, and hence the name Bone Cabin quarry.

Dr. Brown, to whom credit is due for mining and securing the bones of the Tyrannosaurus to science, was restoring the formidable jaw bone of the saurian when seen at the Museum. Years spent searching for missing links or chapters of history in the waste places of the earth have left their imprint on the famous archeologist. When he speaks of recent happenings and times he may mean several hundred thousand years ago. His most recent news, he dryly remarked, was just about 8,000,000 years old.

"The Bad Land of Montana, where our latest discoveries are being made," said Dr. Brown, "is perhaps the most inaccessible spot in America. In fact, the topography of the country is so rugged that it is difficult for the surest-footed horse to penetrate the region. We are convinced that the country for many miles around was once the bed of a great lake, the waters of which gradually subsided in the course of several hundred thousand years. The spot where we are taking out the newest saurian bones had probably become a marsh or was the edge of the lake about 8,000,000 years ago, when our Tyrannosaurus died. At any rate, the soil was soft enough to cover over the skeleton and preserve it for future generations.

"Fossil bones are found in various conditions and various matrices. Usually they are smooth and extremely brittle, but sometimes as in this instance, they are partially decayed so as to resemble rotten stone. Often a bed is located by the surface outcroppings, the bones being uncovered by the action of the elements. Chiefly the jaws and foot bones are obtained in this way, as they stand weathering better than do other bones.

"Our new quarry is probably the most difficult one ever tackled, because of the solidity. Repeated dynamite blasts had to be made in a quarry 25 feet deep, 30 feet long and 30 feet into the hill of rock.

"Until the excavation closely approaches the bones rough tools can be employed—hand picks, spades, and shovels, supplemented by dynamite. It is only when quarrying for large specimens such as the great Diplodocus and the Tyrannosaurus that horses are employed at all, and then only at the bottom of the hill.

"The bones are handled variously at the quarry. If they are delicate, badly mixed, or crushed, the surrounding matrix is cut out in a block, packed in hay or straw, and boxed or crated. One bone—the femur—of this royal monster, indicating the dismembered skeleton of the Tyrannosaurus, remained in its limestone matrix until it reached New York. The one bone and stone weighed 4,100 pounds. Which explains the difficulty of securing fossils.

Bound in Bandages.

"In many cases, as the excavation proceeded, the specimens laid bare were swathed in tissue paper or muslin and gum arabic. Over these bandages of burlap and plaster of paris were placed, enveloping the entire fossil, as a preservative. This must be done whenever the bones are in poor condition. If they are smooth and hard the plaster bandages are applied directly, paper or muslin being placed only over such sections as may be in poorer condition."

Dr. Brown added that the bones of the new saurian differed from others in that they are all hollow, like the bones of a bird, and hence are comparatively light and liable to crumble. As a result flour paste was used instead of plaster of paris, the former being more easily removed when the unpacking is done. Moreover, a pound of flour goes farther than a pound of plaster, an important consideration when it is remembered that the Hell Gulch quarry is 130 miles from a railroad.

This, however, is the prose of fossil hunting. Its poetry was indicated by Professor Osborn in telling of his work at the famous Cloud Bluffs quarry. "On arriving," he said, "we found numbers of massive bones strewn about the base of the bluffs, whence they had tumbled from above, too weather-worn to attract collectors, and reminding one vaguely of a time when the Dinosaur family—the greatest by far that nature ever produced on land—ruled the world.

"So many animals had already been removed from those bluffs that we were not oversanguine of finding more, but after a fortnight our prospecting was rewarded by finding parts of the great dinosaur Diplodocus and the ponderous-limbed Brontosaurus.

A Vast Graveyard.

"Cloud Bluffs stand about ten miles south of Bone Cabin quarry, with the Laramie plains stretching bleakly between. As one rides from the bluffs to the quarry, startling a modern animal at every rod—antelopes jackrabbits, and sage hens—he is passing over a vast graveyard, which has been profoundly folded and otherwise shaken up by seismic disturbances. Sometimes the bone layer is removed entirely, sometimes it is horizontal, sometimes oblique, and again it dips directly into the ground.

"This layer of the dinosaur beds is not more than 300 feet thick, and is altogether of fresh water origin. At the same time there are evidences of the previous invasion of the sea, the ichthyosaur beds, and of a subsequent sea invasion, the mosasaur beds, of the entire Rocky Mountain region.

While the dinosaurs exceed in size the family of Tyrannosaurus, the former were herbivorous while the latter were carnivora. As Dr. Brown ventured, the Tyrannosaurus was so formidable a fighting machine that he easily preyed upon herbivorous neighbors twice his own size. Two of his contemporaries, the Hadrosaurus, for one, so far as known, are the earliest animals that existed on earth.

According to Dr. Brown, the newly found Tyrannosaurus Rex is the nearest approach to the fabled griffin that archeologist or geologist has ever discovered. Since his comparatively light skeleton is a walking, running, or flying adaption, rather than a swimming one, the saurian vertebrae is advanced as proof of a supreme fitness for the propulsion of an enormous frame during occasional incursions on land.

It is also believed from the construction of the animal that he and his kindred were capable of raising themselves on their hind legs habitually.

Built Like a Kangaroo.

The sharp, separated teeth were not the only distinction of the meat-eating Tyrannosaurus. Smaller in size, they were superior in agility, practically biped, with very long, powerful hind limbs, upon which he advanced by running or springing, and with short fore limbs, the exact use of which it is difficult to ascertain. Both hands and feet were equipped with powerful rearing claws.

On the rear foot is the back claw, characteristic of birds, which during the Triassic period left its faint impression, said Professor Osborn, in the famous Connecticut valley imprints. That the fore limb and hand were of distinct use is proved by the enormous thumb claw.

Never before, added the same authority, in the history of the world, as we know it, have there been such remarkable land scenes as were presented during the reign of the Tyrannosaurus—king of all the animal kingdom. Imagine herds of these colossal creatures, from 30 to 40 feet long, roving the earth and terrifying even the huge dinosaurs! The extinction of the dinosaur dynasty is believed to have been simultaneous the earth over, this explanation being deduced from similar extinctions to other large types of animals. When an animal of such huge bulk, with a limited and specialized set of teeth fitted only to a certain sort of food, is subjected to foreign conditions it at once becomes impossible for him to exist.

Among other highly important discoveries made by the recent expedition was the finding of quantities of fronds and tropical foliage which had been buried for millions of years in the earth. As the bones of the newly found king of beasts were in several cases resting on pieces of tropical foliage, it is believed that the Montana climate corresponded 8,000,000 years ago with the West Indies of today.—New York Times.

SHE WAS HOMESICK.

Lydia Sturdevant Sterling, a contralto, became suddenly homesick at Milan, Italy, 15 days before Christmas and started for Berkeley, Cal., at once. Just as her family had sat down to the Christmas dinner she walked in, not having allowed a servant, who had opened the street door for her, to announce her. She canceled European engagements to make the trip and returned in a week.

STRACHAN IS POSTMASTER CANDIDATE

WIRES KEPT HOT TO WASHINGTON IN HIS FAVOR—ENSIGN MAY GET SUPPORT OF DANA'S SUPPORTERS.

County Assessor Alex J. Strachan is an energetic candidate for the office of postmaster of Colorado Springs, and yesterday a number of telegrams were sent to Representative Franklin E. Brooks urging that he be recommended for the appointment. Mr. Strachan was urged to enter the race some two months ago, but stated he did not desire to precipitate a three-cornered fight, so kept out. Now that it has become a free-for-all contest, the friends of Mr. Strachan have again urged him to seek the appointment, and he has consented. In an interview yesterday, Mr. Strachan said:

"There is not much to say regarding my candidacy for the postmastership beyond the fact that I have been urged to become a candidate for the position, and, if I can secure the appointment, I will accept it."

Among those who have urged Mr. Brooks to recommend Mr. Strachan are a number of business men, and it is understood that some thirty-five dispatches were sent to Washington yesterday in this connection.

Mr. Strachan is now serving his fifth year as county assessor and is president of the state board of county assessors. He is 37 years of age and has resided in El Paso county for 27 years, coming here when only 10 years of age.

Colonel Edgar T. Ensing is also being strongly supported for the position of postmaster, and being a veteran of the civil war and a member of Post 22, G. A. R., it is reported that he will receive the indorsement of the friends of Postmaster L. C. Dana. A great many telegrams were also sent to Representative Brooks yesterday urging the appointment of Colonel Ensing.

Deeds are fruits, words are but leaves.

Nevertheless, we'd like to say a few words about our leaves—our tea-leaves—our green and black tea-leaves.

First, they're new crop; second, they're early picked; third, they're well fired; fourth, they're good; which, as a sum total, equals the saving of a good deal.

But we want to do more than say; we want to do, we want to make good the saying that "Deeds are Fruits," and we'll prove to you that our words are as good as deeds if you'll order us to send you a sample pound or half-pound of our A1 brand of 50c Ceylon Tea.

M'KINNIE IS PROPHET OF A NEW EMPIRE

ENTHUSIASTIC OVER COLORADO BEET SUGAR AND GIVES DETAIL OF NEW WYOMING ENTERPRISE.

"Fifteen sugar beet factories will be in operation in Colorado this year. Over a hundred thousand acres will be planted in sugar beets, which means a distribution of over $7,000,000 to the farmers. The crop will make over $12,000,000 of refined sugar and this will be sold principally in the eastern markets."

The granting of a franchise at Sheridan, Wyo., giving the right to J. B. McKinnie, O. H. Shoup and Edward Gillette, on behalf of the Sheridan Interurban Street Railway company to construct and operate a line of railway through the streets of Sheridan, brings to light a gigantic sugar beet enterprise which includes the acquirement of nine thousand acres of land in Sheridan county, the control of the largest irrigating ditch in Wyoming, the building of a sugar factory with a daily capacity of 600 tons, and the construction of the above mentioned street railway.

At the head of this enterprise, which involves the expenditure of a million dollars, are the three prominent Colorado Springs business men mentioned above. J. B. McKinnie, the leading spirit, is the pioneer of the sugar beet industry in Colorado, and made the first subscription in Colorado for a beet sugar factory. His is the predominent interest in the sugar beet factory located at Grand Junction, and is also a heavy stockholder in the United States Sugar and Land company which is building a factory, intended to handle this year's beet production, at Garden City, Kas.

The first step in the enterprise has been the securing of the franchise for the railway company. It is planned to build and operate a line of railway from Delta, and the coal mines north of Sheridan, south to Big Horn, and a road is later to be built as far as Buffalo.

Next in importance has been the securing of an option on six thousand acres of sugar beet land in Sheridan county, together with the control of the Colorado Colony ditch and all of its small supply reservoirs in the mountains by the Wyoming Sugar and Land company, a corporation formed for the purpose. The company will spend upwards of a million dollars in the development of the property it controls and will enlarge the mountain reservoirs of the Colorado Colony ditch so that late water will be available for the sugar beet crop.

The land company does not intend to dispose of land now within its control, but will in all probability form a colonization department, and, by working with the passenger department of the Burlington railroad, will subdivide a portion of this land into five, ten and twenty acre tracts, populating that section of the state with thrifty German farmers skilled in the raising of sugar beets. The sugar beet factor will have a daily capacity of 600 tons and will be built in or near Sheridan, the exact site not having yet been chosen.

Although Mr. McKinnie, who is vice-president of the Exchange National bank, is devoting a great deal of time to the new enterprise, he has not lost track of the sugar beet industry in his own state and sums up this year's prospects as follows:

"In Colorado this year there will be fifteen sugar beet factories in operation and over 100,000 acres planted in sugar beets, which means a distribution of over $7,000,000 to the farmers. The crop will make over $12,000,000 worth of refined sugar. This will be sold principally in the eastern markets. In all towns in northern, southern and western Colorado, where beet sugar factories are in operation, the price of sugar beet lands range from $100 to $500 per acre. The building of a sugar beet factory and its operation always stimulates the price of farm land in the community in which it is doing business and in all the towns in this state where there is a sugar beet factory, business is astoundingly prosperous."

OPEN BUREAU OF PUBLICITY

ACTIVE BOOSTING CAMPAIGN TO BE STARTED AT ONCE FOR PIKE'S PEAK CENTENNIAL.

Monday morning the publicity bureau, to be used in connection with boosting the Pike's Peak Centennial celebration, will be opened in the Chamber of Commerce building. M. M. Rathbun, a well-known newspaper man of this city and Pueblo, has been appointed to look after much of the special literature to be sent out by the Chamber of Commerce and other organizations interested in the coming event, and an active campaign will be kept up from now on.

That the whole eastern country is interested in this event is shown by the number of letters of inquiry received by the Chamber of Commerce. Two letters from eastern newspaper syndicate bureaus were received yesterday by Henry Russell Wray asking for complete stories and data covering the program and features to be given during the celebration. In addition, letters are being received from metropolitan dailies asking for descriptive stories and photographs.

As soon as the new advertising matter is received from the presses, a large supply will be sent to D. V. Donaldson, formerly president of the Chamber of Commerce, at Atlantic City, N. J. Mr. Donaldson has opened a place of business on the Boardwalk near Young's pier, the most crowded spot at the resort, and will boost the Pike's Peak Centennial while advocating the merits of Manitou water and the advantages of spending a summer in Colorado Springs. His offices in Philadelphia, New York and Pittsburg will also be turned into boosting headquarters for Colorado Springs during the summer.

Postal cards are now being made in Denver containing a large reproduction of the painting of Lieutenant Pike, which hangs in Independence hall, Philadelphia.

CITY LOSES A POINT IN CHEYENNE CANON CASE

The injunction case to restrain the city from closing the road leading to the Seven Falls, entitled the Cheyenne Canon and Seven Falls Development company vs. A. M. Holden et al., was called up before Judge R. E. Lewis in the district court yesterday for argument upon the defendant's demurrer to the complaint. The court overruled the motion and granted the defendants ten days to file an answer.

Trial of the case of E. G. Coray vs. Doyle and Schwartz was resumed in the county court yesterday before Judge Robert Kerr and a jury. Several of the former aldermen were placed upon the stand to testify on behalf of the plaintiff. The action is to collect $471 and interest for four years. The trial was not concluded when court adjourned.

In the probate division of the county court yesterday letters of administration were granted to E. F. Couch in the estate of E. M. Couch.

An appeal case entitled Harry Leven vs. Jay Taylor was filed in the county court yesterday.

SHIPMENTS FROM MANY PRODUCERS

LONG LIST OF CONSIGNMENTS OF ORE FROM VARIOUS PORTIONS OF THE GREAT GOLD CAMP.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 9.—Shipments are proceeding from the Henry Abney dump on Beacon hill, upon which a lease was recently let. The ore, which is of average quality, will probably be marketed hereafter at the rate of three to four carloads a month.

Outputting from the Midget mine, of Gold hill, is being conducted with regularity. Two carloads, which is well up to the usual rate, will leave the mine this week. It is being broken from several shoots and ranges in quality from $20 to $40 in gold to the ton.

Two carloads were shipped this week from the Orpha May of Bull hill. This is the average rate for five or six days. Ore is being broken by Sill and Starkweather, lessees, and, by sublessees, from several bodies of average and superior quality.

Another carload has been prepared for movement from the New Boston mine of Womack hill. The ore was broken from a shoot struck at little depth by lessees two weeks ago. The grade is of the average.

The Elizabeth Cooper surrendered another carload today. It was hoisted from the Smith and Altman leased block, where a shoot three or four feet wide has been opened for considerable distance at a depth of 800 feet and elsewhere. It is understood that settlements on these shipments are effected at the rate of $40 in gold to the ton.

HART COMPANY'S PROPOSITION TO ITS STOCKHOLDERS

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 9—The proposition of the Hart Consolidated Mining company, successor to the Hart Mining and Leasing company, owner of a large acreage at the northern extremity of Bull hill, was received here today by holders of certificates in the old concern. In the course of the letter it is stated:

"We offered to sell you this number of shares (equivalent to the number held) of the capital stock of the said new company at 2½ cents per share, provided you subscribed and paid for same on or before April 10, 1906, and surrender your certificates for the same number of shares of the Hart G. M. & L. company. This offer is limited to the above mentioned period, at the end of which time all stock unsubscribed and unpaid for will thereafter be of no value."

The letter was issued by Shove, Aldrich and company under the approval of J. W. Graham and T. W. Glass, secretary of the Hart G. M. & L. company.

GRANITE LESSEES GET GOOD SHOOT

HEATON AND GORMAN OPEN ORE BODY THAT RETURNS VALUES OF $60 TO THE TON IN GOLD.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Feb. 9.—Good ore in a body of liberal width has been struck by Heaton and Gorman, lessees, in the southern section of the Granite claim, situated on the south slope of Battle mountain.

The lessees entered an old shaft. Lateral work was started at a depth of 100 feet. A vein of good size was followed. After a comparatively brief period of prospecting an ore streak was encountered. It led to a shoot. The body has a width of three to five and one-half feet. Assays indicate the presence of $60 worth of gold to the ton.

Drifts are proceeding north and south on the shoot. They have exposed a continuance of superior conditions. Twenty tons of ore, broken in the course of exploration, have been prepared for market. It is expected to yield gold at the rate stated above. Not a little of the ore is charged with sylvanite. After a stope is opened an extension of the body will be sought and developed on the 200-foot level. This block of the Granite lies near the Dillon. Both lessees have long been engaged in this locality.

SALE OF VALUABLE MINING PROPERTIES

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 5.—A mining deed recorded today shows that Louise Wilson transferred to Mary Miller for $10,000 the Hurricane Gold Mining, Drainage and Transportation Tunnel and Townsite company's tunnel and townsite which lies within the lines of the Portland and Woodman claims—the surface rights, buildings and improvements, the Mary Nevin lode claim and all properties belonging to the Old Gold mines, the deed therefore being subject to a contract between Louise Wilson and D. L. Webb and the Old Gold Mines company, concerning an agreement between the C. K. & N. and the El Paso Consolidated companies.

Winter coughs are apt to result in consumption if neglected. They can be soon broken up by using Foley's Honey and Tar. For sale by the Hefley-Arcularius Drug Co.

SHEE TMICA MINE IS SOLD TO NEW YORKER

Edward McClain, a lawyer of New York city, who is registered at the Alta Vista, closed a deal yesterday in which he purchased a sheet mica mine, known as the Olympia lode claim, located in the Freshwater mining district in Fremont county, about 20 miles from Canon City. The property was purchased of Thomas Pennington and Luther Seymour, both of Canon City.

MINES ABOUT WINDY POINT

THIS SECTION OF THE CRIPPLE CREEK DISTRICT HAS SEVERAL SHIPPERS AND SOME NEW FINDS.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Feb. 9.—That section of the Cripple Creek district designated as Windy Point, situated at the junction of Bull and Raven hills, has recently been the scene of several discoveries and is growing in importance as a shipping center.

Ore was struck a few weeks ago on the War Eagle and is being shipped with regularity. A streak of fair quality is reported to have been encountered in the Kitty Gold. One of good grade was shipped a few days ago from the Rattler and more is being sought. Active conditions have lately developed in the Treasure Vault, and a shoot is being sought in the Amanda by the same company. Ore is encountered from time to time in the Mary Ann, where lessees are engaged in exploration today. The Blue Flag has joined the shipping list, its ore coming from a body of average size at a depth of 185 feet. A shaft is being sunk on ore in the Sentinel claim of the Twin Sisters company by J. C. Smith, lessee. Exploration is proceeding on the Happy Year.

If the territory adjacent to Windy Point be included several shippers, among them the Gregory, the Jo Dandy and the Ramona may be named. The work being done and the quantity of ore leaving the locality is inspiring interest. The resumption of work on other properties is anticipated.

VINDICATOR ISSUES A CIRCULAR LETTER

The Vindicator Consolidated Gold Mining company, under date of February 6, issued a letter to stockholders in the Independence Consolidated Gold Mining company, reporting the almost unanimous response of the latter in exchanging five shares of Independence stock for one share of Vindicator stock, and making another offer to those that have not turned in their stock. More than 2,350,000 of the 2,500,000 shares of Independence stock have been turned in. Most of the stock still outstanding is in lots of less than 500 shares, and since the Vindicator, not caring to secure lots of less than 500 shares of Independence, offered a cash price of 1½ cents per share, many small holders would not part with their holdings, which in instances had cost much more than the figure offered. The Vindicator therefore makes the offer, good until March 1, 1906, of exchanging one share of Vindicator for five shares of Independence and, in addition, to donate the 3-cent dividend recently declared by the former company.

Independence shares in any amount will be purchased at 1½ cents, an advance of 1 cent.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY NEW MINING COMPANY

The Eagle County Gold Mining and Milling company, which was organized in this city Wednesday, held a meeting this afternoon for the postoffice building and elected the following officers and directors: C. S. Muss, president; H. R. Fox, vice president; J. B. Hanger, secretary-treasurer; G. W. Henry, assistant secretary-treasurer; Frank Kramer, general manager. The directors are: C. S. Muss, J. B. Hanger, H. R. Fox, L. J. Duncan, all of this city, and Frank Kramer and G. W. Henry, of Gypsum. The company is capitalized for $250,000 and owns 62 full claims and 40 acres of rich placer ground in Eagle county. The main offices of the company will be in this city.

COLORADO SPRINGS MINING STOCK EXCHANGE.

Old Gold was in heavy demand on the mining exchange yesterday, following the announcement of a rich strike made in the property within the past few days. More than 20,000 shares changed hands, the price rising from 6½ to 6¾. Gold Dollar and Gold Sovereign both advanced under good demand. Jennie Sample reached 3 cents before the close. Other stocks were in demand at good prices, and the market generally was strong. Total shares, 146,197; cash value, $21,500.

"There Is a Tide in the Affairs of Men Which Taken at the Flood Leads on to Fortune."

The opportunity to make a success comes to every individual at some time in his life, but it often appears in a disguised form and is not recognized until after it has flown. Failures in life result as often from poor health as from mismanagement, and yet people ignore this fact and disregard a cold until it has settled on their lungs and pneumonia has resulted or consumption has been contracted. The opportunity has passed and it is too late now to remove the cause. Your chance for success may rest in curing a cold, and there is nothing you can procure which acts as quickly as Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is famous for its cures of coughs and colds and can always be depended upon. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. For sale by all druggists.

NO. Stocks Show a Revival of Aggressive Strength in Speculation.

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—There was a revival of aggressive strength today in some stock which had been conspicuous for some time past. Some sympathetic effect was produced by these movements in the general market so that the range of prices on the day's business was moving above last night. But compared with the general response during the recent period of speculative activity to such movements as those of today the market was sluggish and inert. Its action was regarded as an additional indication of the present lethargy of the speculation.

Of the day's special movements the most conspicuous was that in Northern Pacific. This stock has responded regularly to the constant advance in Great Northern preferred, although the movement in the latter was attributed to the plan for profitable disposition of its holdings in ore lands in which the Northern Pacific has no apparent share. Northern Pacific today took the leadership and showed a supposition that development is going to [illegible] the movement. News of the development was not forthcoming beyond the stage of unauthorized gossip. This pointed either to a stock issue with subscription rights, a distribution of surplus or a combination with other railroads.

Rumors of Union Pacific's acquisition of Illinois Central have caused some revived talk of projects for a southwestern outlet by other Pacific railroads. It was noticed that the St. Louis Southwestern stocks also were aggressively strong, without special explanation.

Reading resumed its conspicuous place in the trading and once more demonstrated the effective market control which is held over it. Its remount was without consideration beyond the supposition of the requirement from a short [illegible] up during the decline in the stock. Canadian Pacific responded to the announcement of subscription privileges to the proposed new issue of stock.

Some of the southern iron stocks were affected by the circulation of a statement that a strike of soft coal miners would not affect their interests and would leave them free to operate to advantage even if competitors were embarrassed. Estimates of the currency movement for the week gave promise for a weak bank statement, but the appearance of the forecast had no effect on stocks.

The loss by the banks to the subtreasury of $4,759,000 seems not to have been offset by more than a million dollars received on balance of the interior movement. As the sub-treasury gain is largely due to payments of internal revenue collections made for account of interior banks which have drawn on their New York deposits, the interior [illegible] withdrawn funds from New York during the week.

Much interest attaches to the [illegible] of the banks in view of this showing. The quiet stock market during the week has given little cause for changes in the loan item but if the process of renewing maturing loans due to interior lenders be resumed in the New York banks, that game on during the week there may be a further loan expansion to be reckoned with. The offering of new loan issues of bonds and stocks also is a feature of the situation of growing prominence which may have its effect on bank loans.

Notwithstanding the apparent current of cash away from New York exchange at Chicago rose to 90 cents premium today. Foreign exchange also was easier and the advance in sterling at Paris continues. The buoyant movement of the Hill-Morgan group helped the general list to advance but it did not communicate itself with great force to the rest of the market, the closing, however, was firm and near the top.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $2,510,000.

U. S. bond unchanged.

GRAINS STRONG

Shorts Fly to Cover and Prices Advance All Along the Line.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—The wheat market was active and strong throughout the entire session. At the opening May was up [illegible] at [illegible] to [illegible], and after a decline to [illegible], which took place soon after the opening, the price rallied to advance. The firmness was due to active covering by traders who had sold short yesterday on the prediction of a severe snow storm in Kansas and Nebraska and on the failure of the foreign cast they bought with [illegible]. An advance in the price of wheat at Liverpool encouraged the bulls somewhat. Some reports of damage to the winter crop were received, but they were not [illegible]. An excellent demand for cash wheat at Minneapolis and Kansas City gave additional strength to the market. For May the highest point of the day was reached at [illegible]. The market closed strong with May [illegible].

Despite the strength of wheat, the corn market was inclined to be weak for the greater part of the day. The chief influences favoring a decline were liberal local receipts, a prospect of continued large arrivals and a slight decline at Liverpool. Late in the session the market became stronger as a result of the strength in wheat. The close was steady with prices unchanged. May opened unchanged to ½ lower at 43⅞ to 44, sold off to 43¾ and closed at 44.

Early in the day the oats market was easier, but it became steady in sympathy with wheat. Reports from the country indicated an increased movement and cash houses reported more liberal acceptances. The close was steady. May opened unchanged to ⅛ lower at 30 to 30⅛, sold up to 30¼, where it closed.

Provisions were easier, because of moderate profit-taking of numerous small holders. Trading was active, there being a good general demand on the slight decline. The market closed steady with May pork off 2½ at $15.12½, lard and ribs were each down 2½ at $7.60@7.27½ and $7.97½@8.00, respectively.

DUN'S WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW

NEW YORK, Feb. 9.—Dun's weekly review of trade will say tomorrow:

Distribution of heavyweight wearing apparel, fuel and other seasonable merchandise expanded rapidly in response to the more normal temperature, but the week's business has not depleted the accumulation of last month and retail stocks of these are still burdensome.

The only adverse development of the week was the news from the coal fields, although a strike may be prevented by agreement any time before April 1. Railway earnings for January, now fairly complete, show an increase of 16.6 per cent over last year's figures, while foreign commerce at this port for the same comparison with the same period in 1905, exports gaining $6,830,698, while imports increased $2,275,039.

Seasonably poor inquiry for hides has weakened the tone, the only firm department being the packer branded hides for sole leather.

Failures this week number 229 in the United States, against 256 last year, and 29 in Canada, against 27 a year ago.

A NIGHT ALARM

Worse than an alarm of fire at night is the brassy cough of croup, which sounds like the children's death knell, and it means death unless something is done quickly. Foley's Honey and Tar never fails to give instant relief and quickly cures the most severe cases of croup. Mrs. P. L. Cordier, of Manhington, Ky., says: "My three year old girl had a severe case of croup; the doctor said she could not live. I got a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar; the first dose gave quick relief and saved her life." Foley's Honey and Tar is best for croup and whooping cough, contains no opiates, and cures quickly. Careful mothers keep it in the house. Refuse substitutes. For sale by the Holly-Archarius Drug Co.

City Briefs

FINELY furnished rooms at Y. M. C. A.

FORBIDDEN FRUIT—The public is invited to hear Dr. McIvor-Tyndall's final discourse, Majestic hall, tomorrow (Sunday) night. Three hundred extra chairs. Come early.

FUNERAL—Funeral services over the remains of Miss Sara Dougherty, who died February 7 at 328 North Pine street will be held this morning at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's Catholic church. Interment will be in Evergreen cemetery.

THE LADIES AID SOCIETY of the Emmanuel Presbyterian church will give a rummage sale next Friday and Saturday at room 114 E. Huerfano st.

LICENSE GRANTED—County Clerk W. H. Reed yesterday granted a marriage license to James A. Crawford of this city and Miss Daisy Edith Walker of Colorado City.

CADETS—The High school cadet battalion will attend the services at the First United Presbyterian church tomorrow night. The pastor will preach a special sermon; theme, "Opening the Door."

FUNERAL—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Erlig will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Grace Episcopal church. The Rev. Benjamin Brewster will officiate. Interment in Evergreen cemetery.

LECTURE—The next lecture in the Colorado college course will be given in Perkins hall Monday evening at 8:15 o'clock. Professor E. C. Schneider will lecture on "Some Problems of Nutrition." The lecture will be free to the public.

RELEASED—W. G. Robinson, having concluded a sentence of 90 days in the county jail for non-support, imposed by Justice W. N. Ruby, was allowed to take the pauper's oath that he is unable to pay the costs in the case and was released from jail yesterday.

FUNERAL—The funeral services of Eva G. Parker, the 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Parker, who died Wednesday, will be held from the residence, 121 East Las Vegas street, at 10 o'clock this morning. Interment in Evergreen cemetery.

INJUSTICE DONE—An injustice was unintentionally done to H. Berger yesterday in these columns. Mr. Berger resigned from the office of master of finance of Syracuse lodge No. 111, K. P., on account of a stress of business and not because of the defeat of the consolidation plan.

BISHOP TO PREACH—The Right Reverend Charles S. Olmsted, D. D., bishop of Colorado, will preach the sermon at the college vesper service tomorrow afternoon in Perkins hall, at 4.30. Dr. Olmsted is a preacher of great ability and power. The college is offering a rare opportunity to the people of Colorado Springs to hear this distinguished speaker.

INCORPORATE—The articles of incorporation of the F. H. Martin Drug Company will be filed with the secretary of state today. The capital stock of the company is to be placed at $15,000 divided into shares of a par value of $1 each, and the company will take over the store and business recently purchased by Dr. Martin from Otto Fellinger. The directors of the company for the first year will be Dr. F. H. Martin, Alice E. Martin and D. E. Wood, all of this city.
